NEW YORK ABLAZE WITH DEMOCRACY.

Presented a sight which it has seldom seen. Bryan enthusiasis swarmed into the avenue until it was simply impassable from Tenth to Twenty-second streets. The stand erected at the corner of Fourteenth street was surrounded by a living mass of people. For more than half an hour Assistant District Attorney Osborne entertained a crowd. It was pushing, shoving, seething mass of humanity as far as the eye could search. They were waiting for Bryan. The windows of the adjacent houses were filled with people who showed their demonstrations in all manner of ways. Several young women from a house on Second avenue almost opposite the stand kept up a continual stream of fireworks.

It was soon after 9 o'clock when the Presidential candidate was announced by the outbursts from the crowd, Several mounted policemen rushed through the crowd and made a passage way for a carriage behind them. This contained Mr. Bryan. He alighted when he reached a position just in front of the stand and was escorted through the crowd. He was received with the crowd. He was received with cheers which even he could not subdue for several minutes. Mr. Bryan stood with his head bared before the crowd and his hand raised for quiet. MR. BRYAN'S ARRIVAL.

When Mr. Bryan arrived at the Garden he was presented with an immense bunch of chrysanthemums by a young girl. He took the flowers, uttered a hasty expression of thanks and shook the girl's hand. He went to the front of the speaker's platform and the applause then deepened. He stood there looking toward the box in which his wife sat and occasionally looking about the Garden with a smile. He finally waved his hand for silence, but it was ten minutes longer before quiet was restored. His voice was strong and clear, and he seemed to be in excellent physical condition. Mr. Bryan began his address by speaking of the importance of the Democratic clubs.

"We need them," he said, "more than Republicans need similar clubs, for we must do by volunteers what has never been more effective than in this campaign.

THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY.

The Democratic party is the conservative party of to-day, the Republican party the revolutionary party. The Democratic party is defending time-honored principles, the Republican party is urging new experiments. The Democratic party is applying familiar principles to new conditions; the Republican party is removing the ancient landmarks.

"In advocating bimetallism we advocate a financial system whose usefulness is attested by thousands of years of history, as well as by our own national experience, and by the past platforms of the Republican party and all other parties. In advocating the greenback we are advocating a money first issued by the Republican party, approved by the Supreme Court and never condemmed in a Republican platform. In advocating an income tax we advocate a system which received the sanction of Abraham Lincolm and which is now practiced in many of the leading nations of Europe. In opposing government by injunction we are simply defending the jury system which has been described as the bulwark of English freedom, and is as important here as in England. The meanest thief and the blackest murderer are entitled to trial by jury. Why should a laboring man be denied such a trial merely be-

EFFECT OF A CHANGE.

"It is impossible to overestimate the effect of a change from industrial independence to the reign of private monopoly. It is a revolution, the magnitude of which cannot be overestimated, and the far-reaching consequences of which cannot be estimated, and the far-reaching consequences of which cannot be overestimated. The large army is a natural sequence of the trust system. If the people are to be plundered by a powerful and merciless monopoly, if hundreds of thousands of laborers are to receive a daily pittance at the hand of an industrial master, a large army will be necessary to silence complaints and over-awe those who believe in the golden rule.

COLONIAL POLICY.

COLONIAL POLICY

is worth one billion dollars. What does that not represent? It represents the labor of 500,000,000 men for one day at two dollars per day. The entire adult male population of the whole world is about 300,000,000. The fortune of this trust magnate is equal to about one day's labor at two dollars a day to nearly double the eneire adult population of the globe. I do not oppose the acquisition of honest wealth, but would encourage every enterprise of honest and legal character. But I am opposed to any industrial system which produces the results indicated. This is the outgrowth of trusts and monopolies. I am opposed to that kind of a thing. Four Specials! Four Specials!

HANNA AND ROOSEVELT HISSED.

In connection with his discussion of trusts, Mr. Bryan n antioned the names of Senator Hanna and Governor Roosevelt, whereupon there were hisses and groans from different parts of the assemblage. Mr. Bryan again referred to the utterance of Senator Scott, of West Virginia, said to be to the effect that "trusts were a good thing," and referred to the fact that Senator Scott is in charge of the Eastern branch of Republican headquarters. He said he cited those facts to show that the Republican party is the defender of the trusts.

At Madison Square a few minutes after 6 o'clock an electric current was turned on, and the thousands of incandescent lights began to glow. Immense electric signs, with the names of Hill, Cockran, Wellington, and Bryan, were on the Garden. Immediately following this illustration began the fireworks display. The crowds were coming in by thousands by this time. The Garden was filled, and the police stopped further entry at 7 o'clock. Then the late comers turned attention to the two outdoor stands. The principal one was at Madison avenue and Twenty-fourth street, and was brilliantly illuminated. The many smaller stands used by the Republican party would like to a place at which there resided a great mass brilliantly illuminated. WILD ENTHUSIASM.

Mr. Bryan left the Hoffman House just after 8 o'clock. There was wild enthusiasm as he entered his carriage. The party drove out from the Twenty-fifth street entrance of the hotel under the Dewey arch, which was illuminated brilliantly. The full length of Broadway was lined with crowds of people that massed on the sidewalk and filled the cross streets far back.

All along Fifth avenue the streets were jammed and from the sides of the buildings hung scores of lanterns. As the carriage swing into Second avenue and went northward the density of the crowd increased. The people were jammed so tightly there was no moving about. The drive up Second avenue to the stand at Fourteenth street was quickly accomplished and at 9:20 Mr. Bryan was being driven toward the stand at Twentieth street. Here he made no attempt to leave his carriage but stood up in the yehicle, and, with his coat cellar turned up about his neck, his slouch hat pulled down over his eyes, a heavy muffler about has pulsed on the hidden seed in behind the carriage and as far as one could see through the smoke filled air there was a sea of upturned faces.

Along both sides of State street speakers' stands had been erected at short distance istration for not helping the Boers in their fight with England, and concluded by saying he would vote for Mr. Bryan. Mr. Bryan had a hard time getting out of the Garden and out of the speakers' stand. The police seemed to be unavailing. Hundreds of men swarmed about the press enclosure and around the speakers' stand. The crowd quickly chocked the small stairway down which Mr. Bryan had to pass. Chief Devery stood helpless in the centre of the crowd, and Mr. Bryan's companions had to force a passage way for him and themselves through the throng. Another crowd rushed toward the box that Mrs. Bryan had occupied, and in five minutes the floral decorations were carried off as souvenirs. The party finally succeeded in getting away from the building.

WITH REFERENCE TO SILVER.

Mr. Bryan was upon the point of closing his speech when some one in a distant part of the hall made an inquiry about free silver. Mr. Bryan replied vigorously and in a sharply accented tone of voice. He said:

"I want to remind the man who wants to know about silver that you do not have to ask questions to find out our policy on the question. If the gentleman can read he can read a platform that states a party's position so that even a Republican can understand it, and if he has not had time to read the platform and knows anything of me he knows where I stand, whether there is a platform or not. When the money question was paramount we talked about it and the Republicans wanted to talk about the tariff and now when kind of money standard and believe in onstration during the meeting aside from a pretty general departure from the hall after Mr. Bryan had spoken for about forty minutes. Mr. Bryan spoke for about an hour and a quarter and soon after closing started upon his return to New York.

AT OTHER POINTS.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—Probably the largest outdoor political mass meeting ever organized in Chicago was held to-night in the half mile of State street known as the "Court of Honor," The great thoroughfare was thronged from Van Buren to Randolph streets with a cheering, jostling, perspiring mass of people. Chalrman J. K. Jones, of the Democratic National Committee, had designated this as "flag day," and the national banner played an important and spectacular part in the celebration. Portraits of Bryan and Stevenson were also numerous along the broad street. The weather was perfect for an outdoor demonstration.

PROMINENT SPEAKERS.

Honor was begun as soon as darkness set in, and soon after from Randolph to VanBuren streets it was a solid blaze of light. The crowds began to gather early, and soon the broad thoroughfare was one mass of shouting enthusiastic humanity tirrough which it was almost impossible for the police to secure passage for the carriages containing the orators of the evening. Fireworks were shot off and Democratic ward clubs and organizations from all parts of the city added their numbers to the enthusiasm and excitement to the occasion. A. E. Stevenson arrived at noon from Milwaukee, and was entertained at dinear by the Iroquois club, followed by a reception. Later in the afternoon Mr. Stevenson was joined at the Iroquois Club-rooms by Senator Blackburn and the other speakers. Shortly after 7 o'clock the orators were driven to the State street stands, and the speaking began. The former Vice-President was greeted at all points with the utmost enthusiasm. President was greeted at all points with the utmost enthusiasm.

The progress of the carriage was slow, and at times the congestion of the crowd caused it to stop altogether. Seizing these opportunities the people pressed close to the sides of the carriage and forced Mr. Sevenson to shake their hands. He seemed greatly pleased with the demonstration.

was no intention to make unfriendly demonstrations such as rendered remarkable Mr. Bryan's visit to New Haven four years ago, when Yale students literally broke up a vast open air meeting on the green.

THE TRUSTS DISCUSSED.

Mr. Bryan discussed truts and imperialism along the usual lines. In speaking of trusts, he said:

"Last night at a banquet in New York to the Republican candidate for Vice-President, Senator Scott, of West Virginia, made a statement that I am going in read to you. He said:

"Right here I want to say that I believe in trusts. They are a good thing and then recognizing that he had said a dangerous thing for a Republican to say in a campaign he turned and said: 'If that newspaper man put that down I will make trouble for him.''

WITH REFERENCE TO SILVER. Mr. Bryan was upon the point of closing his speech when some one in a distant part of the hall made an inquiry about free silver, Mr. Bryan replied vigorously and in a sharply accented tone of voice. He said:

What is probably the largest single armor plate is to be used in the construction of the battleship Wisconsin. The plate will become the port plate of a turret on the vessel, and is made on a new principle, being cut at an angle instead of being the arc of a circle, the idea being to better deflect a shot. The plate weights about thirty tons, and cost over $12,000. What the armor plate is to a battleship, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is to the stomach. It resists the attacks of constipation, indigestion, dyspepsia, billiousness, and prevents malaria, fever and ague. It will restore a weak stomach to normal condition. Any one troubled with any of the above aliments will do well to try the Bitters at once if they would be cured. For fifty years it has stood alone while its many limitators have fallen.
